ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Dec. 24.—
A "thrill slayer," whose perverted imagination was inflamed by the Lindbergh baby kidnapping and murder, may have perpetrated the savage killing of Rose Gendler.

Baffled in their hunt for the person or persons who stuffed the popular 22-year-old salesgirl in a burlap sack and flung her to a sudden death on the hard ice of Rock river, investigating authorities today leaped toward the theory that the grisly crime was the handiwork of a maniac.

Hunt Demented Slayer

They professed to see a close analogy between this brutal abduction and murder, and the Lindbergh case.
Unable even to conjecture a motive,
the police observed the surprising similarity between the ransom note addressed to Miss Gendler's stepfather, Jacob Mark, and notes which figured in the Lindbergh mystery.

Thus, they reasoned, a demented person might have sought a "thrill"

PA NEW OBSERVES

The weather during the last 24 hours has very closely approximated that of a year ago, only a few degrees difference being noted in the temperature.

Local streams rose sharply overnight, due to the heavy rains. The ground was well frozen from the zero temperatures of last week, and none of the rain soaked in very far.
The Shenango rose two feet since yesterday morning.

According to local motorists, driving conditions were very bad last evening and this morning. In addition to the rain, there was a heavy fog rose from the cold ground as the warm rain struck it.

One of the Pa News was surprised yesterday afternoon when he saw on West Long avenue a young man with a neatly trimmed jet black goatee. Pa wouldn't think the barber would care for such a style to become widespread!

Young Pa News thought that he was in a London mist this morning when he was walking to work.

Since the ice has broken on the Neshannock creek the waters are quite high and presents a rather pretty sight as they rush down the river bearing large pieces of unmelted ice with them.

Pa News observed another of those copper license plates from Arizona yesterday. One would imagine the weather down in Arizona would be far more to the liking of the motorist than that we have been having here at late.

While the rain we had yesterday was not much to our liking, it did a good job of washing away the dirt and soot which had accumulated during the cold snap.

Pa News observed a group of city employees shoveling away the dirt

Many Pilgrims Gather At Town Of Bethlehem To Observe Christmas

By RUTH SLATER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
BETHLEHEM, Dec. 24.—There is a cold, crisp tang in the air tonight as another Christmas celebration draws near.

In the streets of the quiet town
there is unwonted movement as though the spirit of another age had entered.

The lowly beggar and wealthy merchant humbly stand together at the entrance of the church of the nativity, where ancient bells send forth their enduring message.

Pilgrims Pay Homage
There is good will in Bethlehem,
among those barren, desert hills,
where first shone in the heralding star. Pilgrims have come from east and west, from the most remote corners of the earth, by land and sea and air, to pay homage to the Christ Child.

The liner Empress of Britain
docked at Haifa today with 250
Christmas pilgrims who will reach Bethlehem before midnight. Many others are coming long distances afloat.

Clear stars linger over the court where the throngs have gathered since early evening. Restless and noisy, these weary travelers wait for the beginning of the longed-for celebration.

They form an aisle for the procession. Stately and majestic, it marches through the court towards the low entrance of the church.

Each man bows as he passes through.

Slowly the religious assembly proceeds towards the grotto of the nativity through this church of simple, sombre beauty, embellished by the joyous symbols of Christmas.

Long tapering candles, tinsel and colored balls of fire decorate the trees.

Halt Before Manger

As the priests reverently advance toward the brilliantly lighted cavern, a note of mystery, something not of this world, increases until they slowly halt before the manger, adoring this symbol to which they have dedicated their lives.

The congregation raises its voice in the solemn music of an ancient hymn.

Outside the church, under the glittering heavens, strangely clad bedouins in colorful flowing robes, Christian Arabs in semi-western garbs, Europeans and the women of Bethlehem in beautiful embroidered dresses mingle with beggars, kneeling in common devotion, praying for peace on earth and good will to men.

Grangers Plan To Honor Boak

Public Testimonial Dinner
To Be Given New State Grange Master

SCHEDULE DINNER AT WESTFIELD GRANGE

J. AUDLEY BOAK

At a meeting of the officers and executive committee of Pomona Grange held Friday night, December 23, it was decided that a public testimonial dinner would be held in honor of J. Audley Boak, recently elected state master of the Pennsylvania State Grange. The officers met with W. S. Fullerton, master of Pomona Grange of this county and the tentative plans were outlined.

Until the committee can check with Mr. Boak as to the date most convenient to him, it will be impossible to say just what night the affair will be held. However it is probable that it will be sometime during the week of January 9, with the dinner being held in Westfield Grange.

First thought of as a Grange activity, the committee decided to enlarge it and the testimonial will be a public one. The various civic clubs of the county will be invited.
Business men and industrial men will be invited and the details will be announced more fully after the selections of a definite date.

Mr. Boak is the first Lawrence countian to be elected to the important post of State Grange Master and the citizens of this county intend to mark the honor formally.

City Is Ready For Observance Of Christmas

Santa Claus To Make Annual Round Of Many Homes Tonight

CHURCHES PRESENT PROGRAMS SUNDAY

Hundreds Of Homes Are Decorated To Reflect Spirit Of Holiday

WEEKS of planning and anticipation
come to fruition tonight when down millions of chimneys a portly old gentleman with a pack
on his back will drop, to remind boys and girls that Christmas is here.

In spite of the fact that Christmas Day will not be formally celebrated until Monday, tonight is Christmas Eve and not all the arranging in the world can stop youngsters from hanging up their stockings.

Because Christmas Day comes on Sunday this year the churches will be enabled to hold their services on the anniversary of the birth of the One whose doctrines they preach.
Practically every church in the city will commemorate the day in a special way. In some churches special communion services will be held,
others will mark the day with the baptism of infants, and hardly one of them but will hold special services, with attendant Christmas music by the choirs.

Weather Wet

The promise a week ago of sharp, snowy weather for Christmas seems to have been forgotten and instead of snow the county will see what the oldtimers called a "green Christmas". Rain for the past two days has washed the last vestige of snow away.

Lights in the windows of homes, lighted trees in the front yards with here and there community Christmas trees flashing out their kaleidoscope of color. This year's celebrations over the city are not quite as extensive as they have been in the past but at that there are hundreds of homes with the windows decorated.

This is the big night for the youngsters. To them Christmas centers about Christmas Eve, the night when trees are lighted, when the gifts are brought and along about daybreak tomorrow morning, a lot of sleepy eyed tots will be coming downstairs to see what prizes and surprises have been left for them under the limbs of the Christmas tree.

RACE WITH DEATH WON IN HOSPITAL

(International News Service)
CLARION, Pa., Dec. 24.—A ten-mile race with death today apparently had been won by George Myers, 40, a miner, who dragged three drowning girls from the ice-choked water of an abandoned quarry near here.

Returning from work, Myers heard muffled screams from the quarry.
Investigating, he found Phyllis Myers, 8, and Jesse Buzzard, 9, struggling in the icy water. After dragging them out and partially reviving them, they told Myers a third companion also was in the quarry waters.

Diving into the freezing water,
Myers recovered the body of Laura Jean Myers, 6. He bundled all three girls into his car and sped ten miles to the hospital here. The bouncing of the auto revived Laura Jean and hospital attaches today said all three girls would recover.

"Babe" Didrikson sailed over another bunch of hurdles yesterday.

This time it was the A. A.

fours and she hopped right over them. It didn't take all this messing around and publicity

But the minute they saw those gate receipts slipping out

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.

The door will be kept hospitably open to any foreign debtor who desires to approach the United States between now and March 4. But for all practical purposes any move in the international situation has been suspended until Franklin D.
Roosevelt moves into the White House.

The policy of the Hoover administration in international affairs during the nine weeks of life left to it is best exemplified by the fact that President Hoover has gone fishing.

Administration officials awaited
today a report from Ambassador Walter E. Edge concerning his conversation with M. Paul-Boncour, the new French premier, who paid a surprise call to the Embassy yesterday and re-opened debt discussions.

French Want To Pay

The understanding prevails here that the French are desirous of "curing" their default before March 4, provided a way can be found to do so that will at the same time save their face. Confidential advices from Paris indicate that the onus of default is weighing heavily upon conservative French banking and business circles, and that the new government is being urged to find some way of paying the over-

MERRY CHRISTMAS

When Santa Claus gets in tonight and leaves his presents at your tree,
to what he brings in box or paper
just add this little wish from me:
just add my well meant Merry Christmas to you and yours and all your friends, and if I can't see all I'd like to, perhaps this verse will make amends. I wish you wealth and health and comfort, which is a lot to wish I guess, but most of all,
and this is larger, I wish you all much happiness, not just for Christmas day I mean it, but for the year that's coming on I hope you can look back and mention the fun you've had in months just gone. So Merry Christmas, friends and neighbors, the best of luck to you your way, and happiness and friends in bundles, the weather's fifty two

FIRE TRAGEDY OCCURS IN ENGLAND

Seven Children Burn To Death

War Veteran, Wife, Baby, Escape Death As English Home Burns

TENEMENT HOME IS DESTROYED

(International News Service) BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Dec. 24.—Seven of the nine children of an unemployed and crippled world war veteran, ranging in age from 3 to 13, were burned to death today in a fire that destroyed their two-room tenement home.

The father, Patrick Weir, his wife and eight of the children were sleeping when the blaze was discovered. Weir managed to carry his wife and their youngest child, seven months old, to safety before he was overcome by smoke. He was later found crying and almost naked in the charred entrance of the tenement.

He and his wife and the rescued baby were taken to a hospital suffering from severe burns. The other child who escaped the fire had spent the night with relatives.

FRANCE SEEKING TO 'SAVE FACE' IN DEFAULT ON DEBT

due $19,000,000 before the new American administration comes into power.

The American policy, however, is fairly well pegged. France has been informed that the only way to "cure" a default is by paying.

U. S. Promises Nothing

The Hoover administration is in no position to promise anything, even though it was so-minded, which it isn't. President Hoover made it clear in his message to Congress and in his correspondence with President-Elect Roosevelt that he does not propose to "negotiate" for any review of the debts with those countries which have violated their treaties with the United States to the extent of failing to make the payments due December 15.

"Pay first and parley afterward," is the policy of the administration. Undoubtedly the same policy will be adopted by the Roosevelt administration. To that extent, at least, there will be a continuity of policy between the outgoing and incoming administrations.

Norman H. Davis, who has been a special envoy to the Hoover administration in Europe for the past year, discussing everything from debts to disarmament, talked with President Hoover for an hour yesterday before the latter left for the south on his fishing trip. Davis left Washington to confer with President-Elect Roosevelt. He remains apparently the sole remaining link between the old administration and the new.

Davis Mystery Man

Davis has been something of a mystery man in International affairs for the past year. A Democrat, he was under Secretary of State in the latter days of the Wilson administration, and he has been frequently mentioned as a possible Secretary of State in the Roosevelt administration.

Few men have a more intimate knowledge of the background of the war debts, during the war he was American financial commissioner in Paris, passing upon credits and loans to all foreign governments. He is intimate with both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt.

Hope U. S. Will Act

PARIS, Dec. 24.—With war debt negotiations with the United States suddenly opened by Premier Paul-Boncour, government officials today awaited the United States' reaction to the Premier's conference at the United States Embassy.

In high political circles it was declared the next step was up to Washington.

One of the Premier's chief supporters told International News Service:

"Paul-Boncour showed his willingness for frankness in dealing with the debt default problem when he called on Ambassador Edge, making no secret of the fact he sought guidance in determining what course France should pursue in cleaning up this 'mutually disagreeable situation.'"

The Premier's spokesman affirmed that Paul-Boncour had asked Ambassador Edge's personal advice as to what France could do toward reopening negotiations for payment of the defaulted instalment and at the same time appeasing the French parliament, which decided in favor of default.

International News Service learned the American Embassy has informed Washington of the entire conversation between Paul-Boncour and Edge, leading to the belief the next move will be a "return courtesy call."

It is expected Ambassador Edge will confer with Paul-Boncour on Tuesday.

and ashes which had washed down off the Highland avenue hill this morning.

It looks like the weather man got a little confused in his seasons and gave us our Christmas weather a little bit early this year.

According to the weather forecasts for Christmas, Santa Claus will be needing his galoshes and raincoat in his rounds tonight. Rain is the forecast.

Christmas shoppers downtown this morning got a thrill when some six fire departments came rushing to the center of the city in response to a fire call. The fire was not serious, but the response to the alarm by the fire companies made some excitement for a time.

Many more Christmas lighting decorations were noted in a tour of the city last night, and tonight it is probable that the city will be quite generally decorated. While the program is not as extensive in many homes as in previous years, there are hundreds of residences that shine forth with some holiday lighting tokens, that give a holiday cheer to the city, despite the entirely unseasonable weather conditions.

Noticed a license plate upside down yesterday on a car parked on North Jefferson street.

A number of friends in this city have received Christmas cards from John F. Cox, former well known rescuer and master barber of this city for many years. It is some years since he removed to Bronxville, N. Y., where he is residing at the present time with a sister. His friends were pleased to learn that he is getting along in good shape.

England has great resources of coal, and annually produces approximately 70 per cent of the coal output of the United Kingdom.

Roosevelt And Norman H. Davis Plan Conference

President-Elect Will Get First-Hand Information On Disarmament Parley

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 24.—Following a brief holiday interlude, president-elect Roosevelt will start next week an intensive personal study of disarmament and world economics, it was learned today.

As the first step in that direction, the governor will confer here with Norman H. Davis, one of the American delegates to the Geneva disarmament conference, and United States representative on the committee arranging for the international economic conference in London next spring.

Dr. Davis telephoned the president-elect on Thursday, immediately after his return from Europe. He said he was going on to Washington, but that he would come to Albany one day next week. The governor hopes to get from him a first hand view of present conditions in Europe.

The president-elect is giving more thought today to Christmas preparations than to national and state affairs. He and Mrs. Roosevelt will entertain a group of Albany orphan girls at the executive mansion this afternoon and drive later to Hyde Park.

All the Roosevelt family will be together tomorrow at Hyde Park. The Governor said he intends to spend the day opening Christmas presents and that he will drive back to Albany late Monday.

Two Are Questioned.

For the second time the girl's two step-brothers, Samuel and David Mark, were questioned last night. The men were required to print the words of the note which demanded $2,000 for Miss Gendler's release. The printed papers will be studied by handwriting experts, according to the sheriff and the state's attorney, who released the Mark brothers after lengthy interviews.

Of particular interest in the investigation was a notebook discovered on the person of the girl after her crushed form was removed from the ice. In the notebook appeared names and addresses of men from Chicago, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and New York. The names were closely shielded from publicity, but State's Attorney King and Sheriff Schueter intimated they planned to ask authorities of the cities to co-operate in questioning the men named.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 24.—A bride of two months today asked the police missing persons bureau to play Santa Claus and return her missing husband to her before Christmas.

Ogrino Is Taken Away For Hearing

Prospects Are That The County Will Be Put To Additional Expense

Johan Ogrino, who was shot and wounded while at the farm of Ralph W. Allison of Pulaski township, and who was brought to the county jail from the Jameson Memorial hospital recently, was taken to New Bedford for a hearing by Constable Robert McClenahan, this morning.

Ogrino presents a problem to the county commissioners as his appearance and actions indicate that he is not very bright mentally, and it may be that a commission in lunacy may have to be appointed, which will mean an additional expense to the county. He has already cost the county about $700, as three guards were kept on him while he was in the hospital.

His appearance at the county jail this morning would indicate that he would not have tried to escape from the hospital on anywhere else even if he had a chance. He claims that he had been living with a brother in Warren, Ohio, and that he has a sister in Pittsburgh. The authorities believe that he does not have sufficient mentality to plan a chicken theft and that he must have been taken to the Allison farm by persons more alert.

He is well advanced in years, being around 60. He says that he has been in this country 30 years, but it is doubtful if he knows how long he has been here.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Minnie Parsons Huber.

Mrs. Minnie Parsons Huber, aged 49, wife of Nicholas Huber, died Wednesday afternoon, December 22, at her home in Swissvale, after an illness of one week.

Mrs. Huber was born in Indiana county June 24, 1883, the daughter of George M. and Mary E. Parsons and prior to her marriage she was a resident of New Castle. She was a member of the Methodist church of Swissvale and was well known and highly esteemed.

She is survived by her husband, two sons: Cyril J. and James W.; a daughter, Dorothy and the following brothers and sisters: E. E. Parsons, Struthers, Ohio; O. G. Parsons, Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. W. R. Young, Mrs. B. G. McFarland and Mrs. William Dicks of New Castle.

Funeral services were held this afternoon from her home in Swissvale and interment was made there.

Calvin Weller.

Calvin Weller, aged 87, a veteran of the Civil War, died at his home in Harmony Friday evening at 7 o'clock, after an illness due to his advanced age.

Mr. Weller was born in Lawrence county and had resided on a farm near Portersville for fifty years and moved to Harmony about eleven years ago. He served in Company 1 Sixth Heavy Artillery of Pennsylvania during the Civil War. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Weller's wife died about four months ago. He is survived by seven daughters: Mrs. J. T. HOOVERS START FISHING TRIP THROUGH SOUTH were in high good humor. Ogechee river shad, rockfish, sea trout and bass were reported swarming.

The president's special train pulled into Savannah at 8:30 and the executive lost no time in getting aboard the Sequoia. A crowd of several hundred greeted him at the station, and limousines whisked the party to the Savannah river docks immediately.

Mayor Thomas W. Hoynes extended the official welcome of the city, heading an official party.

Veteran Guide.

A weather-tanned fisherman, Gus Ohman, moved into prominence as the fishing party got underway. Ohman, who has more than three score years to his credit, knows all the best fishing holes. He fished with President Cleveland years ago, and President Hoover today depended upon him to guide the party to the spot where the bass and other fish are running best.

Tentative plans at the time the party got underway called for a Christmas Eve celebration on board the Sequoia.

CHRISTMAS

USHING crowds parade the downtown shopping district. Stores are filled with eager customers. Christmas is upon us once again, another milestone in the varied journeys that we take as we press on to varied goals.

The years no longer loaf in their passing as they did when we were children. They speed by now and leave their marks upon us. So busy are our hands and heads in the eternal task of finding means to provide food and warmth and shelter, that time has become a mill-race that sweeps us on to the end of our course. There are many stations along the way. And the most hopeful of all of them is Christmas, for it is the Christmas spirit that descends upon us and saves us from ourselves.

The grind of business wears our brains. The disappointments make heavy our hearts. The greed we nurture within us makes us selfish. Our ego, prompted by our longings, destroys our concern for others. And when comes Christmas and purges us of our hates and our lack of faith in our kind. Without this season of good will we would become sordid indeed.

The most hopeless, hapless, helpless individual in all the world is the unbeliever—the unbeliever in everything that is worth while—the individual who does not believe in man; who does not believe in woman, who frowns at ideals, who mocks at faiths; who scorns love as a weakness and who worships at the shrine of Self. He goes his lonely, unlighted way, snatching at gems and discovering that they are only dross when he finds them in his hand. For happiness does not depend on what we wrest from the world. Happiness depends upon ability to enjoy. And we can enjoy the things we have only to the degree in which we are permitted to share them with others.

Study those faces in this fast fleeing Christmas shopping season.

See that white-haired old man, whose step is slow, whose hands are palsied, but whose eyes are bright with a light that is but a reflection of the spark of gladness that nestles in his soul and warms him and makes him content. A grandfather, perhaps! Some place a child is standing at a window, dreaming of the generous-hearted Santa Claus concerning whom Grandpa has told wondrous stories. How slowly the days creep by for this child!

You know how it is. You know if you ever had a child in your home at Christmas time.

The old man in the department store is dreaming of that child as he inspects a doll or a woolly little horse or this and that. Before so very long, perhaps, a shadowy figure—the figure of death—will stand at his bedside and touch his forehead and say, "Come, come with me." But today he lives. No king in all his glory has ever wrung from life a joy that was deeper than his joy now as he stands in a tiny city of toys and chuckles at a vision of a Christmas morning now near at hand.

What if the road he has traveled has been hard? Has he not found his reward in a child who runs her fingers through his soft, white hair as she snuggles in his arms when story-telling time has come? Perhaps there have been days when his tongue was sharp, when his heart was hard, but whatever venom there may have been on his tongue is dissolved now, and a song sings in his heart. For Christmas nears, "Good Will Toward Men," and good will toward boys and good will toward little girls who stand at windows and dream of Santa Claus.

Thus are we reclaimed at Christmas time—reclaimed from ourselves, our worst enemies. Thus is the course of our sordid selfishness interrupted, so that we emerge from the Christmas season better equipped morally to go our way.

It isn't the gift that we give that counts. It's the gift that we receive through giving that makes of Christmas a season of joy.

A PHILANTHROPIST NEEDED

A difficult condition to reach by ordinary measures of relief is that of the man and family whose financial emergency is concealed behind a personal pride which will not permit them to accept what seems to be charity. In many cases the stringency is only temporary, and in every case the victims cling stubbornly to the hope that they can work their own way out.

There is little or no real suffering among those classes whose chronic poverty make them periodic departments on public charity even when there is work for all. Many of this type find the flop house, soup kitchen and bread line wholly satisfactory as long as there is no work connected with it.

There is real suffering in homes to which unemployment and poverty are a new experience. Not even after their savings have been exhausted can they bring themselves to ask for charity. Unless friends and relatives come to their aid they often go without food and fuel.

How to reach this latter class is society's greatest problem in the present emergency. A fund from which those who can show evidence of responsibility and good prospects for the future could borrow would serve the purpose. Here is an opportunity of a lifetime for some sincere philanthropist.

Cheer up. There won't be any more political speeches on the radio for nearly two years.

The way to save your country now is to quit that timid effort to save everything else.

There are persons who do not worry about having empty heads if they have full pocketbooks.

Fame is the quality you can prostitute at a price to advertise face creams, socks and liver cures.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

THE CRY OF FEAR

I have a friend who is exceedingly wise, although he thinks he knows little.

He is young in every way that counts, but he thinks he is older than the hills that he loves.

He thinks he despises mankind, but he is kind to all men and women. He sits, whenever the day is fine, in his yard, among the ducks and the doves and the chickens, and the ducks and the smaller birds climb to his shoulders and eat from his hands. And he talks boldly about everything in the world.

And hearing him talk is like standing on a great height or listening to great symphony, magnificently played. There are organ tones in his conversation that are deep and strong and true.

You go away and try to repeat some tale he has told you, but you always fail, because he does something to words and ideas that is beyond imitation; and you can not describe him any more than you can describe a great mountain peak or a tall tree. He is and if you do not know him that is your loss forever.

Once as we sat in his yard he talked about all the feathered people that scratched and fed and quarreled at his feet, and he lamented the fact that none of them really knew each other. They lived together, breathed the same air, ate of the same grain, drank from the same troughs, but they were as apart as if they lived on different planets.

There was only one cry that was common, and that was the cry of fear. . . . If a hawk flew over and a chicken saw that bird of death, she gave a harsh cry, and all the birds in the yards understood and stiffened to stillness or scurried for cover. The dove understood the duck, the duck the pigeon, the chicken the bantam hen.

But that was the only time they understood and talked together, when their own lives were at risk. My friend seemed somewhat melancholy as he talked of his small, brainless friends.

But it seemed to me as he talked that he was not talking of chickens and doves and ducks at all, but of human beings who live so closely together and breathe the same air, too, and eat of the same food, and walk the same earth and are so far apart from each other almost all the days of their lives.

He seemed to be saying that too often the only cry that draws men and women together is the Cry of Fear—when they fear for their money or their health or their lives, or their vanities or their lives. He was melancholy about that, and it seemed to me he was gently despising of his fellows who had only the common language of Fear.

Because, in himself, as deeply as I could see, there was no fear at all.

Seven Who Backed McFadden Attacked By Whole Country

Pennsylvanian's Attempt To Impeach President Hoover Condemned In Comments Which Are Notable For Strength Of Language

Rarely has a group of legislators been so severely condemned as have the seven members of Congress who voted with Representative Louis T. McFadden of Pennsylvania in presenting an impeachment resolution against President Hoover, based particularly on his treatment of the European war debts. The author of the resolution is recognized as a foe of the President, but the others are more severely arraigned for their actions.

"Mr. McFadden's action, in the opinion of the country," says the SCRANTON TIMES, "was a display of spleen," and he "added nothing to his reputation by the impeachment resolution." The TIMES says "wholehearted approval of the promptness with which the proposal was tabled."

The LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL holds that "it is a reflection on the House that McFadden could muster eight votes in support of a move for administration punishment, brought on for trivial personal reasons."

The SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE asserts that "the House became entirely non-partisan and almost unanimously American in shouting down the resolution."

"The representative from Pennsylvania," according to the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, "is obviously a man with an obsession, a Hoover phobia that has been growing for years and which now is quite out of rational bounds. The Democrats who voted for the impeachment resolution have no such excuse. Their conduct lays them open to the charge of blind partisanship, and particularly after the result of the November election such a vent of personal spleen against the Chief Executive runs beyond foolishness and into the extremes of bad taste and bad sportsmanship."

"The seven men suffer nothing more than the humiliation of finding themselves in such a small and contemptible minority. Their constituents would make them feel much smaller still when they next come up for re-election."

"It is shocking to members of all political faiths," avers the BOISE IDAHO STATESMAN, with the belief that Representative McFadden "should be read out of the party," and the conclusion: "President Hoover needs no defense on the silly allegation; for Congressman McFadden's insolence there is no defense."

The PORT HURON TIMES HER-

ALD asks, "What shall we say of the other seven?" That paper adds, "When we read their names and recall their legislative records, we can say only that they also ran true to form." The CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST declares that "the seven who backed him did not do credit to their party."

"Fatman and Blanton lined up together," remarks the TEXARKANA GAZETTE, with the comment: "These two were numbered among the few Democrats who failed to support Speaker Garner in the latter's attempt to keep faith with America on the matter of repeal of the 18th Amendment even though Texas Democrats in state convention and by referendum at the July primary voted overwhelmingly for re submission of the prohibition question to the states and the national platform demanded repeal."

"It was a Pennsylvania Republican," states the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, "who proved so unacceptably un-American as to have introduced a resolution in the House to 'impeach' President Hoover, on the fantastic charge that he had 'betrayed' his Nation in the matter of war debts. We feel like raising a hallelujah that we can acclaim the action of a North Carolina Congressman Mr. Pou. in playing instant hand in rebuke." The MIAMI DAILY NEWS concludes: "The showing is a great vindication for the national House. Take any house on earth and if the proportion of adepts therein is less than eight to 355 it is a most extraordinary house."

The ROANOKE TIMES agrees that "the House did well to squelch Representative McFadden immediately and overwhelmingly." Reviewing the incident, the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM declares: "The greatest offense of the Hoover Administration has been in the Nation four years of Republican rule at a time when three of those four years proved to be the most disastrous in history for the practice of Republican party principles. If a person is entitled to punishment for finding himself bound to a chariot wheel then, perhaps, the eight militant Representatives were super-patriots. It is a matter of considerable praise for the involved human nature that the remainder of the House of Representatives personnel believe in the Salvation Army slogan."

"Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

BEING YOUR AGE

You may be an old person trying to be too modern.

Not that you should draw into a shell of reserve and live in the past and entirely according to the rules of bygone days.

But you should not allow yourself to get into the habit of complaining about the customs of today in comparison with times when you were active.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, fear not: For behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a savior, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

able of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.
"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childish faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and light. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished."

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children or men see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world."

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding."

"No Santa Claus! Thank God! he exists, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Helping 'Santa'

Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions
Carry Yule Cheer
To Neediest

Reward because they know that a part of New Castle's unfortunate families will be gladdened during the Christmas week as a result of their thoughtfulness and personal generosity, members of the three local luncheon clubs, the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions, will turn their thoughts over the week end to family celebration among their own.

An annual custom, the clubs this year determined to do as much or even more than last year to spread holiday cheer into homes where Old Santa might not call. The Yuletide activities were carried on separately but no duplication resulted.

The Lions' annual dinner for Lawrence county's blind, held this week opened festivities; the last comes next Tuesday evening, December 27 when the Kiwanians and their families treat the Margaret L. Henry home children to their annual Christmas party. The program will start at 8 o'clock.

Rotary has provided a cargo of toys for the neediest in the city and by this hour all of them will be delivered. Rotarian Rex L. Patch handled the distribution.

Children of the Crawford-Oakridge home, Atlantic avenue, wards of the county, will also receive welcomed sweaters as the gift of the Kiwanis club. Presentation of these will occur next week.

Sure enough, there was an odd looking "thing" pecking away at the tree, quickly recognized by Mrs. Stump as a woodpecker. Evidently the bird has misplaced his almanac and delayed his departure for the south so long that he decided to give up the journey.

Dinner-Program

Proves Success

Presbyterian People Of Ward Enjoy Entertainment Last Evening

Mahoning Presbyterian church people scored another success with their dinner and Christmas entertainment Friday evening. The dinner was attended by two hundred people. The program in the auditorium was heard by a crowd of 400 or more.

Dinner was served in the church dining room by Evelyn Marshall and her class. Pep singing was led by Herbert Smith, and could any one have led it better?

The orchestra then burst into a march and the guests went upstairs to the church auditorium where a program was in readiness for presentation. Lights were turned out and candles lighted, producing a pretty effect.

Marian Unangst gave a recitation, followed by a short address by the pastor, Rev. D. C. Schnebly. Twelve boys brought the baskets of white gifts to the pulpit. Every one felt gratified that such generous response had been made to the call for white gifts.

Eileen Scheidemantle gave a recitation. Mrs. G. O. Scheidemantle's class presented an exercise. Two musical numbers on violin and saxophone were rendered by Raymond Horchler, Jr., and Russell Hochler. A male trio sang a much appreciated number, following by a song by Jane Bollinger and Lillian McConahey. After a play, "Christmas Guests," the program was brought to a close.

Younger members of the Sunday School were given a treat later. The white gifts are being distributed today among needy families.

Church To Help Needy Families

In place of distributing gifts among themselves, the Mahoning Methodist church people plan to make Sunday a white Christmas and bring gifts to be given to needy people of the church and seventh ward community. Each member will bring some sort of a gift, groceries, money, clothing, toys, games. These will be collected by a committee and distributed by them to worthy people.

LEAGUE HAS DINNER
Epworth League members of the Mahoning Methodist church had their Christmas tureen dinner Friday night at the church. Thirty-five were present and the evening proved very interesting.

In another instance, a 35 calibre Remington rifle, stolen from Dr. E. R. Raymole of Wilkinsburg, was recovered and the thief arrested.

Trap Much Game At Pymatuning Dam

Wild Game Taken From Swamp Confines Is Released Elsewhere

Before work had progressed far on the great Pymatuning Dam project in Crawford county, the Game Commission decided to save as much game as possible from the encroachments of the workers on their living quarters.

As a result, Game Protectors in that section trapped alive 863 rabbits, 12 raccoons, 54 fox squirrels, 24 flying squirrels (non game), 11 ring-necked, and 68 quail. These were released in other sections of the country nearby.

Round Confers With Council On Budget For Street Lighting

L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, met with city council informally at a council budget session Friday and discussed with the city fathers the further possible budget reductions.

Mr. Round stated that it was the policy of the company to be as helpful as possible, and with that idea in mind voluntarily reduced the city street lighting bill $8,632.00 last year, plus incidental savings approximating $1,200.00, or a total of $9,832.00 in 1932.

He further proposed that by the acceptance of the standard street lighting tariff, previously offered to the city, and other economies that could be effected, a further reduction of approximately $5,000.00 could be made for the year 1933.

Mr. Round pointed out that in addition to the savings in street lighting costs made possible to the taxpayers during 1932, rate reductions to the taxpayers for service supplied to their homes, exceeded a saving of $15,000.00 in face of the fact that, for the small user, the rate in New Castle has for years been the lowest in the state. Thus the total saving to the tax-payers for the year 1932 was in excess of $25,000.00, he said. This amount plus the anticipated saving of $5,000.00 in 1933 will be a total saving in excess of $30,000.00 per year during the life of the present street lighting contract, he asserted.

He said that in December, 1929, the Power company was supplying a total of 1364 lamps at a total cost of $63,505.00 plus energy for the city-owned white way system of $3,803.00, making a total cash payment to the company of $67,308.00.

In the interval from December, 1929 to December, 1932, during which period the company has supplied all of the lighting in the city, the number of the lamps have increased to a total of 1620. In other words, he said the actual number of lamps has increased 20 percent; the candlepower has increased 30 percent, and the total bill for the increased service today is practically the same as that paid to the company in 1929, and below the actual total cost to the city of operating the street lighting system as of that date.

To make this statement more clear, Mr. Round explained that the operation of the municipally owned curb lighting system for energy, supplies and labor, exclusive of the city electrician, cost $7,908.00, to which should be added the cost of the lamps furnished by the company, or a total actual cost in December, 1929 of $71,413.00. At the present time the company supplies a full and complete street lighting service. He said that the company supplies not only the lamps outside the business district, but also the lamps in the business district, and the total cost for 1933, if the suggestions he made were put into effect, will amount to $69,805.00, which covers 46 lamps in addition to those which were in service in 1929, notwithstanding the fact that in the interval the company paid in cash to the city the sum of $25,000.00 for the city's equity in the white way system (which sum was used for unemployment relief) so that he points out, actually in the three years just elapsed, the company has saved to the taxpayers $50,000.00.

Mr. Round briefly sketched the development of street lighting in the City of New Castle from its inception, calling further attention to the fact that in addition to the white way system owned and operated by the City, the Company, during 1921 was supplying 390 arc lamps and 208 80-c.p. lamps, a total of 598 lamps. This number had increased in 1924 to 661 lamps, at which time the new lighting system went into effect, totalling approximately 1,000 lamps. This number had again increased in 1929 to 1364 lamps and in 1932 to 1620 lamps; the cost per candlepower per year having decreased more than 50%.

He stated that under the old plan some parts of the City had light, others had none, but under the uniform lighting plan laid out by the City's consulting engineer, a uniform and effective lighting system was provided.

He mentioned that while the area of the city has not increased since 1910, many new streets and allotments have been laid out since then, which necessitated more light.

He touched briefly on the good old days when Bill Hall's buckboard was a novelty, and if an adult were found out on the street after 10 p. m. he was looked on with suspicion by the walrus mustached blue-coat. He drew attention to the tempo of the people of today compared to before the war; to the increased population; the need for good street lighting as a police measure. He pointed out that in the old days a policeman could detect a movement only within his immediate vision. Now, with adequate lighting, a policeman can easily detect a movement between the two bridges, uniform and adequate lighting having multiplied the effectiveness of the police force. He asserted that the adequate and uniform street lighting system effective in the City of New Castle, is a protection of incalculable benefit to the citizens who find it necessary to be out after dark, particularly in the residential districts.

Mr. Round concluded his remarks by quoting many instances in other cities in which street lights had been shut off to save expense and had been put back on again to save the people. As another evidence of the value of good lighting, he pointed out that the accident insurance rate on automobiles in New Castle is three times lower than in neighboring cities, the taxpayers, particularly automobile owners, being benefited to that extent.

Duff Will Head School Parley At State Capital

Proposed Change In State School Aid Program To Be Opposed

Sufficient acceptances have been received by Hugh M. Marquis, secretary of the New Castle Board, to insure a representative gathering of second class school directors in Harrisburg on December 27, to discuss the proposed change in school subsidies. Walter W. Duff will represent the New Castle School district at the meeting and will have charge of the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting is to lay plans to fight the proposed school subsidy which would penalize second class school districts in favor of the fourth class districts. This would mean a cut of $30,000 in the school subsidy to New Castle, and would mean an increase of $48,000 to the fourth class districts. The first class districts would remain the same, the cut coming on the second and third class districts.

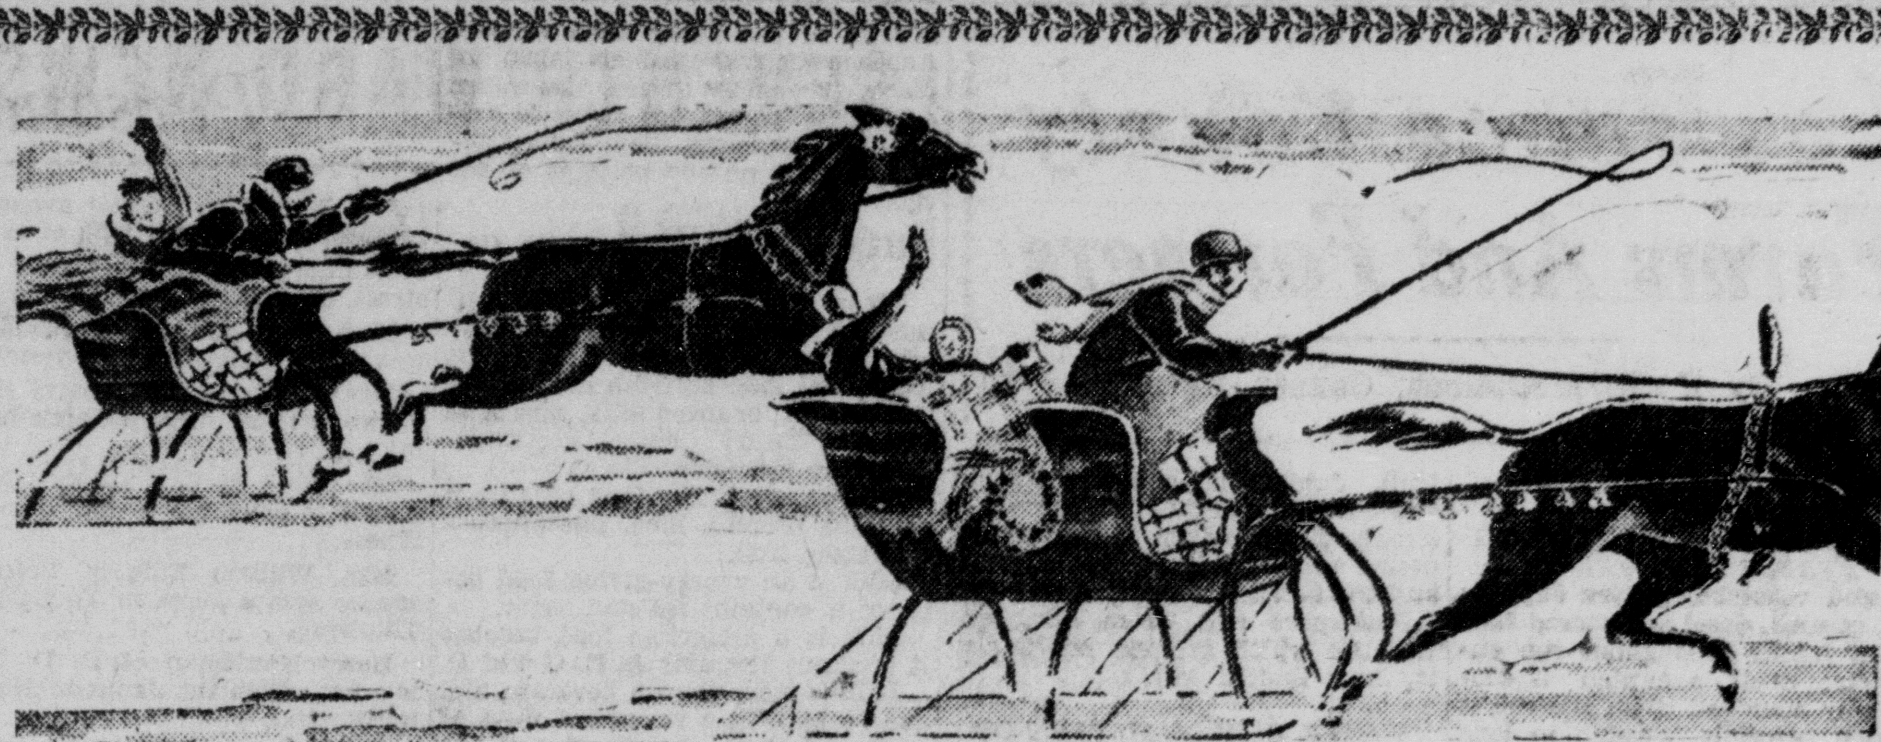

The New Castle School Board has inaugurated the idea of having the second class school districts meeting in Harrisburg and battling the proposal. The meeting on December 27 will decide what further action will be taken.

HALTS TRAIN, LETS DRIVER CRASH GATES

An unknown driver owes his life today to the quick-thinking of Ben DeNuccio, Pennsylvania railroad watchman at the Mahoning avenue crossing, and the crew of a local Pennsy freight train, because together they halted the train and allowed the reckless motorist to crash thru the crossing gates late Friday afternoon.

Darting past halted traffic, the car sped toward the lowered gates at DeNuccio, sensing the danger signalled the oncoming train to a halt and raised one gate. The car crashed the other gate arm.

The car sped on.

The Christmas Trail

A crack of the whip, we were off through the streets,

And we snuggled down cozy and deep,

As the horse sped along and the bells slapped his flanks,

Over snow that had drifted in heaps.

We sang as we rode, and the frost of our breath

We sang just the harder to see,

And we clapped mittened hands to keep warm for the hour

As we slipped over bridge and by tree.

I think of that fun in that trim Christmas sleight

As I follow the gasoline trail

In these days of the pavement, the motor and coupe,

That rival the train on the rail.

Christmas day—the white horse—and the shining black sleigh,

I think of them now with a sigh,

While I step on the gas and I send the old girl

Just one mile a minute on high!

Christmas day—and the horse—and the shining black sleigh,

The jingle and tinkle of bells;

Oh, how I remember them—blissfully sweet—

In the story past Christmas times tell.

We packed in the sleigh and went slipping away

Over fields, over fences and roads,

That led out to Grandfather's farm where we drove

In jolly big Christmastime loads.

Rule Explains Big Increase In Employees

HARRISBURG, Dec. 24.—New duties imposed upon the department of public instruction have been responsible for the increased personnel Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent, said today.

The announcement of Dr. Rule came in reply to one of state treasurer Edward Martin earlier in the week comparing the increases of personnel in some of the state departments.

State treasurer Martin said the department of public instruction had 42 employees in March, 1919, and that number had increased to 416 in the corresponding month of last year.

Passage of the administrative and fiscal codes by legislatures since 1919 has given the department the responsibility over 14 new activities Dr. Rule said. These additional activities include the state library and museum, motion picture censors, school employees, retirement board, historical commission and a number of professional boards and commissions.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

HAROLD R. McCULLOCH, County Agent FARM GARDEN SUPPLIES VEG-ETABLES ALL YEAR

A good vegetable garden supplies fresh, canned, dried and stored food for the family throughout the entire year. Such a garden is economically managed when the soil is prepared carefully, planted in long rows for wheel hoe or horse cultivation, and kept filled with choice varieties from the beginning to the end of the growing season.

Two garden demonstrations in Lawrence County, at which two meetings were conducted, show how the farm family can be better fed with less cost. Throughout the state the average net income from the farm garden was $130.48.

Select the site now for your next year's garden. Use ground that is in a good state of fertility and located near the home. If the area is fenced, make an entrance large enough for a team to enter. Apply manure in winter and plow early next spring.

STRAWBERRIES DIFFER IN YIELD AND QUALITY

Profitable production of strawberries is directly correlated with big yields. Good crops may be obtained in several ways but especially in the use of proper cultural practices and varieties that are high yielders. During the past year 12 of the leading standard varieties, as well as varieties just being introduced to growers, were demonstrated, on the farms of 25 growers in 11 counties. Striking differences in yield, survival of plants and size and quality of fruit were noted.

Aberdeen, Jupiter, Howard 17 or Premier and Howard Supreme were the most outstanding varieties. Howard 17 has been the leading strawberry in Pennsylvania for 7 or 8 years, but in the demonstrations conducted this year, both Jupiter and Aberdeen have outyielded the standard varieties.

Aberdeen produces a berry of medium size that is only a fair shipper but this variety produces abundant runners that set heavily with

WATER ESSENTIAL PART OF DAIRY COW'S DIET

Water in abundance is an essential part of the dairy cow's ration. Cows having all the water they want to drink and at times when they most need it will yield more milk from the same amount of feed than will cows having a restricted water supply or watered but once a day. This fact is attested to by numerous dairymen who have installed watering cups in their stables or who have otherwise improved their system or method of watering their cows.

Under conditions such as the present when every item of cost needs to be carefully considered, dairymen of Lawrence County who are watering their cows but once a day or whose cows must go some distance to a stream to drink, might well make a study of the situation to see if some practical means of improvement could not be worked out. Cows obligated to drink ice water from stream or trough are compelled to use a part of their feed to heat the water to body temperature and so have less feed remaining for producing milk.

Running water is not absolutely essential to the installing of watering cups in the stable. Where the stable does not freeze, it is entirely practical to suspend a tank near the ceiling of the stable to which the pipes leading to the individual watering cups may be attached. Water can then be pumped to this tank instead of to a tank or trough outdoors.

GATHER EGGS OFTEN AND KEEP THEM COOL

Egg producers who desire to market a fine quality product should gather their eggs frequently. During stormy weather the egg baskets should be covered to protect the eggs while being carried from the hen house to the egg cellar. Eggs that have been wet do not keep as well as dry eggs.

During the winter, most eggs are held at too high temperatures. The farm kitchen is no place to hold quality eggs. If there is a furnace in the cellar, the eggs should be kept at some distance from it. A very desirable arrangement is to have one section of the cellar partitioned off for an egg room. Fresh and vegetables should not be stored in this room. A temperature just about freezing is more satisfactory for holding eggs than one near 80 to 80 degrees F.

MILK IS ESSENTIAL PART OF DAILY DIET

When every penny counts it is more important than ever that every member of the family gets some milk. This may be fresh milk, evaporated milk, or dried milk, says Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension specialist.

Milk is a building food because it contains protein, lime, phosphorus and some iron.

Milk is an energy-giving food because it contains fat and sugar. Milk is a protective food because it contains vitamins A, B, C and D. Milk is more than a beverage and can be used in a variety of ways at every meal; for breakfast, on the cereal or in cocoa, for dinner—as a part of the main dish with meat, fish, cheese and eggs or with vegetables creamed and scalloped, or as dessert as puddings, custards and junket; for supper—in creamed soup or with vegetables or as a dessert.

In making creamed soup where an acid vegetable like tomatoes is combined with the milk, there is a little trick. Thicken the tomatoes and add slowly to the scalded milk. Have both tomatoes and milk the same temperature when combining. Serve at once.

"Invest in yourself by using milk every day," Miss Drury recommends.

New York Boy Is Drowned In River Result Of Crash

Truck Swerves Into Wagon On High New York Bridge, Youth Thrown In River

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Fifteen year old Alfred Scale, drove his horse-drawn truck over Williamsburg bridge early today, anticipating a Merry Christmas.

He had taken a load of chestnuts to Manhattan last night. The entire load was sold. There was money in his pocket.

As Scale's wagon neared the bridge end, a big passenger car cut out of its traffic lane. A truck driven by William Sigler was forced to swerve sharply aside.

It struck Scale's wagon, hurled it against the guard rail and the boy's body shot over the rail into East river.

Police launches grappled unsuccessfully for the body for two hours. Sigler was taken into custody on a homicide charge.

Builders And Rainbow Girls Pack Baskets

In the spacious dining room of the Cathedral Friday evening, a group of boys identified as The Builders and girls of the Rainbow Order were busy for a few hours packing baskets as a means of spreading a bit of Christmas cheer among needy families to which they were delivered.

The girls in session at 7 o'clock and under the supervision of their Worthy Mother Advisor, Mrs. Lillian Templeton, packed twelve baskets. The boys who had activities underway at 7:15 completed twenty six baskets and all were ready to go out shortly after 9 o'clock. Howard F. Zeit, Adult Representative of the Builders and leader was in charge. He is responsible for much of the splendid work accomplished by the boys and is the instigator of the basket proposition instituted in this organization.

The boys will have a public installation of officers on Wednesday evening, December 28 to which Masons, Eastern Stars and the general public are invited to attend.

FATE OF BEER BILL THIS SESSION DOUBTFUL

May Not Pass Session At All

Liberals Disappointed At Result Of Vote On The Bingham Bill

DRYS MAY BLOCK ACTION ON BEER

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—The advent of Christmas found advocates of legalized beer wondering today whether a senate filibuster after the holiday recess will block modification of the Volstead Act at the present session of congress.

There were rumors the dries would organize in the senate to conduct a filibuster against changing the Volstead Act until after the states have passed upon repeal of the Eighteenth amendment. A handful of senators could block passage of the beer bill if they undertook such a fight, since a dozen appropriation bills must be passed in the eight weeks remaining after the New Year.

Liberals Disappointed.
Liberal leaders expressed frank disappointment over the attitude of Democratic leaders in opposing the Bingham motion yesterday for consideration of his bill, legalizing 3.2 per cent beer. Bingham said he would substitute all the beer provisions of the Collier bill, just passed by the house, for his own but even this concession failed to stem the opposition. His motion was beaten 23 to 48, with a score of the newly converted Democratic wets voting against it.

An analysis of the vote indicated the Collier bill would pass the senate, if it can be brought to a final vote.

It appeared at least 64 senators would favor the Collier bill. This was in line with the recent International News Service poll, showing 67 senators for beer, 23 against and 6 doubtful.

Fate Is Doubtful.
The fate of beer legislation rested upon the Collier bill, referred to both the senate judiciary and finance committees. If it is reported back to the senate in the first week of the New Year, it has a chance of enactment; otherwise, its fate is doubtful.

Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, judiciary chairman, announced he would try to get his committee together Monday to act on the Collier bill. He protested against any delay. He faces the fact, however, that a majority of his committee program will be absent from Washington until after New Year's day. If they remain away, no further action can be taken upon the bill until January 3 when the senate resumes business.

After the judiciary committee acts, the bill must go to the finance committee because of its tax features. Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, finance chairman, announced his committee would act promptly.

There was a feeling in senate circles though that the bill would not return to the senate for passage until the middle of January. If this eventuates, the dries would be in a strategic position to block its passage up until March 4.

Valuable Painting In Philadelphia Is Stolen By "Crank"

Canvass "Portrait By Night" Is Stolen From Academy Of Fine Arts

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24.—A modern counterpart of Vincenzo Peruggia, who stole the Mona Lisa from the Louvre in 1911, was sought by police here today as the thief who cut the prize-winning canvass, "Portrait By Night," from its frame in the Academy of Fine Arts and escaped unnoticed.

With four swift strokes, the vandal slashed the picture from its frame, rolled it under his overcoat and sauntered past three guards to the street. Police said they believed the man a crank because he selected this particular picture rather than one of the many more valuable canvasses in the Academy.

The canvass, awarded the valued Walter Lippincott prize this year, was painted by Hilda Belcher, New York artist and illustrator, who sold it to the Academy for about $2,000. It portrayed a girl basking in the reflection of a fireplace.

Prisoners Happy, Chief Cook Given Parole, But Stays

Chief Cook Of Ohio County Prison At Wheeling Stays To Cook Christmas Dinner

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 24.—This story came mighty near being a sad instead of a happy Christmas yarn.

Herbert Gravius, 30, a prisoner in the Ohio county prison here, was paroled yesterday.

Gloom prevailed the cells of all the other prisoners when the word came around that "Herb's leaving." But it's all fixed up today. Gravius is going to stay—at least until after Christmas. You see, he's the chief cook at the prison and has to prepare the Christmas dinner for the inmates.

Pittsburgh Man Leaps To Death

Man Killed In Jump From Bloomfield Bridge 210 Feet High

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 24.—An unidentified man plunged 210 feet from Bloomfield bridge to his death in a ravine along railroad tracks here today.

The man's body struck the ground with such force that he was partially buried in the mud. No witnesses to the plunge could be found but an unidentified negro informed police he saw something, which he believed to be paper, drop from the structure.

Some Doubt Over Ownership Of Goods

In the case of John Woski, for use of J. A. Martin against John Gunsey and Norman Waller, an issue was ordered framed by Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this morning to determine the ownership of goods seized by the sheriff. Plaintiff caused an execution to be confessed against the defendants, and the property, valued at $119 was levied upon, whereupon the defendants set up a claim to it. The hearing will be held to determine the rights of the respective parties to be goods.

Find Body Of Girl In Sack

Miss Rose Gendler, (kidnaped and murdered.)
Central Press Telephoto

The sister cities of Davenport, Ia. and Moline and Rock Island, Ill., have been aroused over the murder of 22 year old Rose Gendler, above, whose body was found in a sack on the ice under a bridge over the Rock Island River near Moline. Miss Gendler, who was a clerk in a Davenport department store, is believed to have been a victim of kidnapers, who later killed her. Her home was in Rock Island, where a ransom note demanding $2,000 had been left.

Post Office Pace Slackens; Employees To Rest On Holiday

Your postman trekked back from his routine deliveries today, hung his mail sack in its proper corner and turned heels toward home to pass a quiet Christmas—you'd be surprised to know how glad he feels because his Santa Claus job is done.

The post office pulse, which thumped at a heavy rate from Tuesday until Friday, was rapidly slowing down at noon.

And the clerks, the mail sorters, the dispatch clerks—you can add the officials, too—were satisfied like the letter carriers that Christmas of 1932 had just about come. While the volume of holiday mail weighed less than heretofore, the same problems of speed and swift deliveries arose this year to cause concern.

Postmaster Luke S. MacNab reported today's business as "fairly heavy." The office remains open this afternoon as an accommodation to late mailers, until 5 o'clock.

Abiding by a request from Washington, the post office will close all of its departments this afternoon to allow employees to enjoy a complete Christmas rest. Only routine holiday duties will be performed from now until Tuesday.

No mail deliveries will be made on Monday on any of the city's 39 routes or the county's nine rural routes. All windows will be closed.

clubs exchanged programs so that everyone was highly entertained. The play given by the Franklin club was coached by Miss Mildred Miller. The rhythm band was led by Virginia Duff of the Washington club advisory staff. Some of the kiddies entertained with songs, readings and mouth organ selections.

Altogether about 85 kiddies owe a delightful time to the Girl Reserves of New Castle.

Money left from the Senior high club's collection will be used for New Year's baskets, of which they hope to have at least three.

The football star's most remarkable pass is the one he achieves with a general average of 40.

Senior high school Girl Reserves saw to it that the Sciota street girls had a real Christmas party yesterday. The senior girls brought with them stockings filled with oranges and candy, as well as lovely dolls made for this purpose by the students of Slippery Rock State Teachers college.

The senior girls had made a collection of $26.00 at school, with which they purchased warm stockings and mittens for the Sciota street girls.

Lois Chambers played Santa Claus.

Miss Mary Long, Miss Geraldine Turk, Eleanor Wolcott, Betty Rice bought the presents and wrapped them.

Benjamin Franklin Girl Reserves had a delightful party at the Y. W. C. A. Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Games, pop-corn balls, lollypops, oranges and toys were given out to a group of little guests by Santa Claus.

George Washington Girl Reserves had their party in the gymnasium, also had a Santa Claus present who gave gifts, boxes of candy, pop-corn balls donated by Mrs. Allen, mother of Helen Allen, a Girl Reserve.

Escaped Auburn Prisoners Freed Of Riot Charges

Judge Severely Reprimands Jury For Acquitting Geo. Barry And Small

WERE CHARGED AS LEADERS OF RIOT

(International News Service)
AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 24.—Arthur Barry, notorious gentleman gem thief, and George Small, his pal, today were acquitted by a jury in Cayuga county court of charges of riot in connection with the Auburn prison outbreak of 1929.

The jury returned its verdict shortly after 6 a. m. today, after deliberating for more than 19 hours.

The defendants, who escaped from the prison in the midst of the riot, received the verdict with satisfied smiles.

Small, who had acted as his own attorney and had virtually led the case for the defense, was particularly pleased.

Jury Reprimanded
Judge Kennard Underwood, however, promptly reprimanded the jury, declaring from the bench that the verdict was "your own responsibility" and "unjustified by the evidence."

"The district attorney," declared Judge Underwood, "cannot be blamed for what has occurred. In my opinion, your verdict indicates that for some reason unknown to the court, and apparently arising from considerations other than the evidence, you agreed that these defendants stand acquitted of the charge of riot."

While the verdict freed the pair from the charge of participation in the prison outbreak, both must return to Auburn to serve out sentences previously imposed.

Barry at the time of his escape was serving 25 years for burglary and larceny as a second offender. Small, was serving a 12 year sentence for second degree robbery.

CAR DAMAGED.
C. L. Uber, 824 Lathrop street, reported to the police last night that as he was driving east on East Washington street near Pearson street, that his car struck a bad depression in the street and he feared that his machine was damaged. The police visited the place and placed a red light on it.

How to reduce Government expenditures? Well, it's easier to reduce when there's somebody to say, "No, you can't have any more cake."

Cleveland Judges Reduce Salaries

Will Donate $2,000 Yearly Of Salaries To Fund For Juries

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 24.—Common Pleas judges at a meeting late yesterday voted to cut salaries of their bailiffs and assignment commissioners and agreed that the ten judges who do not begin new terms Jan. 1 should donate $2,000 a year each, or $20,000, to the fund for juries.

This voluntary donation on the part of the ten would place their salaries at $10,000 a year, the same figure as that provided for the incoming judges by the reduction bill passed at the last session of the legislature. The newly-elected judges are Samuel H. Silbert, Walter McMahon, George B. Harris, Thomas M. Kennedy and Arthur H. Day.

This would almost double the voluntary reduction accepted by the judges in 1932, on the plan devised by Budget Clerk Joseph T. Sweeney, which took away 10 per cent of their salaries above an exemption of $1,320. That cut amounted to $1,068 each.

Red Cross Chapter Asks For Sweaters

Requisition Is Placed For 266 Dozen Sweaters For County's Needy

In addition to the great quantity of cloth which has been made up into garments, and the supply of men's and boys' pants, overalls, stockings, etc., which has been requisitioned, Chairman Harry Alexander announced this morning that an order has been placed with National headquarters for 266 dozen sweaters.

These will be supplied from cotton, which the Red Cross has had made up at different factories. Distribution will be made of these, when they arrive, through the Red Cross Garment Committee, from whom the different units in the city and county will make requisition.

Of the amount sought, 102 dozen are men's sweaters; 66 dozen, boys' and 98 dozen women's.

SMOKE CAUSES ALARM
Six fire departments were called into action this morning as the result of a defective flu in the Dunn building, occupied by Nolan's store at 115 East Washington street. The smoke came through a hole in the chimney underneath the floor when the chimney became partly stopped up. An alarm was sounded from box 28.

District Attorney Says Chief Of Police Names All Police Witnesses

In a statement made today, District Attorney John S. Powers, commented upon a statement made in City Council on Friday, in which it was said that the district attorney was responsible for large numbers of policemen being called as witnesses in court cases, thus increasing the expense to the taxpayers.

"While I realize that there was probably no intention to criticize the district attorney," said Mr. Powers, "yet the inference would seem to be that this office was in the habit of piling up witness costs in cases, in order to give somebody some extra money."

"There is no foundation for any such inference. When a case is called for trial, the county detective subpoenas only those witnesses whose names are on the transcript of the case and these names are on the transcript because the chief of police put them there. Where the city authorities prosecute a case the chief of police decides what witnesses are needed to prove the issue and naturally the county detective calls those witnesses who have been named by the chief of police as being a part of the case."

"At times there have been a number of policemen called in cases to prove exhibits. This would happen where a gun had been taken from a prisoner and had passed through several hands. In order to prove that the gun was the property of the prisoner it is sometimes necessary to call the arresting officer, the man with him, the desk sergeant and perhaps one or two others, to prove that this gun is the same one taken from the prisoner after the commission of the crime. If a number of officers have handled the gun, certainly that is not the fault of the district attorney, and quite as certainly it is necessary to prove that the gun in court is the same one in the crime. To do this, to satisfy the jury and to get the exhibit into the records it is necessary to show through whose hands it passed."

"As district attorney I have endeavored to call only sufficient witnesses to prove the commonwealth's contention. If there appears a long list of names on the transcript, certainly the district attorney cannot be blamed. If there is any fault with this system, and if there is any blame attached to the calling of numbers as witnesses the blame lies squarely with the mayor and the chief of police."

DE VALERA REGIME IS ENDANGERED BY LABORITE PARTY

(International News Service)
DUBLIN, Dec. 24.—Possibility that the government of President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free state may be overthrown was seen today in an announcement that laborites would oppose the government's proposal for reducing salaries of civil servants.

It was pointed out withdrawal of Laborites support would probably mean defeat of the De Valera government in the dail.

Helen Wills Moody And Husband Back From European Trip

Famous Tennis Queen Puts Halt To Rumors That Divorce Is Being Sought

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24.—It was "great fun" for Helen Wills Moody, the tennis queen, to come back to America and "find beer on the way."
"Of course," she said today, as she finished unpacking her trunks
after a six months trip to Europe with her husband, Frederick S.
Moody, Jr., "I don't drink beer myself, but I can well imagine a lot of people will find it fun."
Mr. Moody said she and Mr.
Moody would spend the holidays here with her husband's folks and then set up housekeeping for themselves again.
They were both "extremely" put out at rumors that they were going to be divorced.
"Why, we've been the very best of pals, and on the longest trip we ever took together," the dazzling racket wielder exclaimed.
"Whoever started such trash?"
Moody wanted to know, referring to the separation rumors. "We came right through Reno and never even got out of bed to look at the place."

Titans To Play Two Games This Coming Week

Will Meet Youngstown And Case On Home
Floor

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 24
—Coach John Lawther's Westminster College basketball team will report here on Monday, December 26 to prepare for contests with Youngstown College and Case School of Applied Science to be played on the home floor on December 28 and December 31.
The Titans, following their defeat at the hands of Edinboro on December 17 went to their homes for a short vacation. Coach Lawther was unable to drill his men previous to the Edinboro game and was not present at the game due to scarlet fever in his home. He is now ready to point the men for the important contests of next week preparatory to a meeting Duquesne at Pittsburgh on January 3.
Youngstown College has this year
a much improved team which gave Allegheny College plenty of competition in a contest played at Mend-ville a week ago. Case, with "Jeff" Carlin, former Washington and Jefferson court star, as coach, should present one of the best outfits to be seen on the Titan home floor this season.
Eight members of the Ohio Conference championship football team are members of Case's basketball squad. Case will meet Waynesburg at Waynesburg on December 29.
Last year Case won 7 games and lost 6, winning their first 6 games in a row and dropping 4 contests by one and two-point margins.
Lawther will depend upon Bill
Douglas, Indiana; Gerald Newton,
New Wilmington and Ray Sweeney,
Youngstown, O., at forward; Lou
Patt, Altoona; Wes Bennett, Akron,
O., and Ray Southard, Preepert, L.
I., at center and John Wilhelm, Kittanning; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh and John Healy, Freeport, L. I., at guard.
The Titans lack reserve strength this season and with Grove City and Geneva both strong, and Waynesburg having the same team as last season, the outlook for a sixth successive Tri-State Conference championship for the Titans is not very bright.

Pitt Panthers To Stay In Arizona

Warm Sunshine Returns To Arizona And Sutherland
Decides To Stay

PLAYERS ARE IN HIGH SPIRITS

(International News Service)
TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 24.—After playing leap frog with giant cactus, riding horseback over rock-studded trails, and generally startling gophers, gila monsters and other little creatures of the desert, the Pittsburgh University football team today eyed the Pacific coast with high spirits.
Enthusiasm of the team for the game against Southern California in the Pasadena Rose Bowl Jan. 2 increased also with a return of warm weather for a dashing practice session in which the second and third teams ran Trojan plays with only fair success against the regular eleven.
Appearance of the brilliant desert sunshine put an end to all talk that Pittsburgh would proceed this week to Southern California to conclude practice sessions.

Fights Over-Confidence

(International News Service)
Los Angeles, Dec. 24.—Fighting against over confidence, Coach Howard Jones today warned members of the University of Southern California team to appear early Monday for start of the final week of practices for the New Year's Day game with Pittsburgh.
Practices were suspended over Christmas day by the Trojans who yesterday appeared to be in fine physical and mental condition for the Panthers, despite the hard battle won from Notre Dame.

Eleanor Drury Gives Some Suggestions For Inexpensive Dinners

With Sunday listed next on the calendar the question of the hour for local wives and mothers is: "What will we have for the Christmas dinner?"

They want a dinner delicious as well as balanced and, important in these times, one that may be prepared with a very moderate expense.

No one would know more about such things than Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association. So a News representative asked Miss Drury to list several menus answering the above requirements.

She kindly consented to do so and here they are:

This can be served for a family of eight for the small cost of $2.50.
Spiced Baked Home
Candied Sweet Potatoes
New Spinach or String Beans
Waldorf Salad
Pumpkin Pie
Coffee

Of, if you prefer something a little different, here is a tasty line-up for a family of eight, and should not cost more than $2.85:
Tomato Cocktail or Bouillon

Meat Loaf with Gravy
Scalloped Potatoes
New Cauliflower
Vegetable Perfection Salad
Vanilla Ice Cream
Wafers—Coffee

For those folks whose dinner is not complete without serving chicken, or duck or turkey, here is a suggestion. (Expense, $3.25)

Cranberry Cocktail
Roast Stuffed Chicken
Mashed Potatoes with Gravy
Creamed Onions
Christmas Beets
Waldorf Salad in Tomato Jelly Rings
Mince Pie
Coffee

And the following menu shouldn't cost more than $3.00 for a family of eight. Guaranteed delicious cocktail to coffee.

Grape and Apple Cocktail
Stuffed Crown Roast of Pork
Mashed or Candied Sweet Potatoes
Creamed New Carrots or
Christmas Beets
Coldslaw with Variations
or
Cranberry Salad
Old-Fashioned Indian Pudding
With Vanilla Sauce
Coffee

Challenges Tax Claim For 1929

Butler Man Files Brief Against U. S. Claim For $31,250 Of Government

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 24.—John W. Moon of 417 North Main street, Butler, has filed a brief with the United States Board of Tax Appeals challenging the claim against him by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for $31,250 in income taxes.

The Commissioner contends that Mr. Moon owes this amount to Uncle Sam as income tax for 1929. Mr. Moon, on the other hand, denies this allegation and will fight the claim.

The Beaver Investment Corporation of New Brighton has also filed suit in the Board of Tax Appeals to prevent the Internal Revenue Commissioner from collecting $1,489.97 in transfer tax which the Commissioner argues is due Uncle Sam from the company as taxes for 1925.

Holy Year Is Set By Pope

Pope Pius Sets April 1933 To April 1934 As Year For Prayer And Atonement

CARDINALS GIVEN CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24.—To encourage prayer and atonement in a world beset with materialistic troubles, Pope Pius XI, today proclaimed celebration of a holy year from April, 1933, to April, 1934, commemorating the nineteenth century of the death of Christ.

The proclamation was delivered by his holiness in a Christmas message to the Sacred College of Cardinals, gathered in the great consistory hall of the Vatican.

Of Great Benefit
"It will be of great benefit to the world," his holiness said, "not to hear talk of conflicts and mistrust, arms and disarmament, debts and reparations and the solving of miseries both industrial and social."

"So we move that this commemoration of the nineteenth century of Christ's death should extend during a full year, which we proclaim a holy year so as to permit the faithful to have maximum value for prayer and atonement."

In proclaiming next year a holy year, the pope referred to the scientific controversy over the actual time of the death of Christ.

"Science is not so sure as believers," he said, "that 1933 can be identified with the real year of the death of the saviour."

"We have made inquiries. We have found that the years 1930 to 1933 are favored for the nineteenth century. There is weaker reason to believe that 1934 is the actual date."

Christmas Seals Are Telling Their Story Everywhere

Its Not Too Late To Give Something To The Cause They Represent

It's the day before Christmas and this Eve, the old, old story of the Christ Child and his advent into the world for the good of all mankind will be retold and recalled. Carols will ring forth here and everywhere telling of the coming of mankind and for the time at least, the thoughts of the more fortunate will be turned toward the relief and happiness of others less fortunate. Those who have aided the cause of the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society through the purchase and use of Christmas Seals, are aiding in the spread of this story that never grows old. Everywhere these seals go, they bear the message of a little helpful thoughtfulness for those, who suffer with or are in danger of becoming effected with the dread Tuberculosis.

If you have neglected to purchase these seals and help spread their very personal little message, there is still plenty of opportunity to assist in this most worthy cause in the Lawrence county district by sending a few dollars to the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society, City Mission Building, South Mercer street. There is need for every dollar obtainable in order to carry on the very necessary work of this organization. All gifts of funds will help and insure continuance of the great work.

We Wish all a very Happy Christmas.

One lawyer in the city has a couple of presents which came in the mail. No name was on the package. Just a number. The number of a man who is expiating a crime down in the Big House in Woods Run. The gifts are a handmade leather wallet and a hand turned paper knife. They must have taken hours of the giver's time. Not that time means anything to him, but it seems to me it was a nice thing to do. Even if he is in jail for robbery, or bootlegging, or general cussedness. Christmas brings out what little good there is in all of us.

SQUIRE LOSES HIS ROLL WHILE SLEEPING

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 24.—That thieves are bold and justices sleep soundly describes the burglary of the home of Squire A. E. Madge who reports the theft of $17 from his pants pocket. Police today are looking for the thief who obtained entry to the home by using a skeleton key to the side door. The pants carefully folded were on a chair by the bedside in which the magistrate was sleeping.

The thief must have been meticulous in his habits, for after abstracting the seventeen bucks, he carefully refolded the pants and laid them back.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Christmas Eve... A million lights twinkling the message of the season... Colored lights... green and red and blue... shooting their cheerful gleams through a wall of rain... little tikes setting up for Santa, and getting sand in their eyes... downtown the last minute shoppers... rushing pell mell through the stores... looking for a necktie to match Uncle Abner's whiskers... or a piece of china to make up for that ceramic version of the Battle of the Marne, that was broken at Aunt Maggie's last month... shoppers, thousands of them... laughing at their own discomfort as other late shoppers make a running track of their feet... tired clerks... wondering if they ever will get up on Christmas Day... and mentally resolving to crown that stout lady if she asks for any more stock pulled out... but somehow in a Christmas Eve rush... my mind is a long ways off.

In a little town halfway cross the world... and nearly twenty centuries ago... back in a little town called Bethlehem... where a little boy was born... and I can't forget that after all, it's his birthday we're celebrating... and somehow gifts don't seem so important when I think of Bethlehem... and Christmas Eve.

This is one year when the Christmas holiday gives you two chances to get caught up on your sleep. And in order to catch up on it, most folks will sit up most of tonight and get pulled out of bed at daylight tomorrow morning.

And it seems to me that some stories will have to be changed to suit conditions tonight. How can you tell a youngster that Santa is coming in a sleigh when the ground is as bare as a hard boiled egg. This year's Santa will have to be a modern one, travelling in a tri-motored plane.

There's one thing we haven't had thus far this Christmas season, and that is the commission of a major crime. Check back over the crime list for the past ten years in New Castle and you'll find that many of the most spectacular crimes were committed during Christmas season or at any rate near the first of the year. Of course there's lots of time yet.

Tomorrow is the day when fathers spend most of the day trying out the mechanical toys that Junior got, and wondering why Junior doesn't want to listen to the explanations on how the toys operate.

And by the way if you don't make a practice of getting around to church very often, tomorrow is a good day to make your annual appearance. The preacher will appreciate it, and it can't do you any harm.

And now to close this column. No matter what language you speak, or what ones you understand, Merry Christmas means the same in all of them. And here's one right at you, with all the good luck you can cram into it.
